Buenos Aires City Tour - Half Day

Duration: 3 hours

This tour allows you to trace back the historical evolution of Buenos Aires, visiting the most distinctive and political landmarks to better appreciate their significance in the historical framework of the city. You'll become acquainted with the customs of its people as well as the city's splendid and varied architecture, which somehow manages to harmonically blend old Colonial buildings with precarious - yet charming - tin houses, French palaces, and state-of-the-art skyscrapers. Your journey starts at Plaza de Mayo, the foundational site of the city which has been witness to our country's political history. You'll then make your way to San Telmo, one of the oldest neighbourhoods in Buenos Aires. It used to be the residential district favoured by the upper class until the late 19th century, when a yellow fever epidemic caused the wealthier families to move northwards. The area was marginalized until the 1970s, when many artists and artisans came to San Telmo to install their workshops. Nowadays, thanks to its amazing architecture and convenient location, this ancient neighbourhood is really flourishing. You will continue southwards to La Boca, one of the city's most authentic and charming sites to visit.

Buenos Aires City Tour & Zanjón de Granados

Duration: 6 hours

You will discover Buenos Aires' most traditional neighbourhoods on this tour. The first stop is Plaza de Mayo (May Square), the site where Buenos Aires was founded in 1580 and a landmark for the vast majority of significant political, religious, and social events in the city. Surrounded by Casa Rosada (the government "Pink House"), the old city hall, the cathedral, the Central National Bank, and the ministry of economy & finance, the Plaza de Mayo has been witness to some of the most dramatic and joyful days of Argentina. You will head down Avenida de Mayo (May Avenue), deemed a National Historic Site, to reach the mythical Café Tortoni, the oldest coffeehouse in Buenos Aires. Throughout the years, it has received the most distinguished visitors, writers and musicians, both local and foreigners among them, such as Jorge Luis Borges, Julio Cortazar, Federico García Lorca, and Carlos Gardel. The tour continues on to San Telmo, a picturesque area with notable colonial and turn-of-the-century constructions. There are many antique shops and artists' ateliers to peruse as you casually make your way down the cobbled streets and throughout the Flea Market, which comes alive with bustling people and vendors on Sundays. In the San Telmo district of Buenos Aires lies what must be the city's most enigmatic tourist attraction; El Zanjón de Granados. Take a guided tour through the museum tunnels for an idiosyncratic exercise in urban archaeology and learn how the ditches historically channelled water from streams that once flowed through the area to the River Plate. Heading south to La Boca, you will be able to visit the legendary Boca Juniors' football (soccer) stadium and famous Caminito Street open air museum. The neighbourhood has its own strong identity; the Italian immigrants who settled in this area close to the port, built the characteristic colourful tin houses that are known to provide an abundance of photo opportunities for visitors. La Boca has also retained a mixture of much of its original character and persona: a 'brain' comprised of pop-culture, a 'heart' of tango, 'eyes' brimming with imagination and street art, and the everlasting 'soul' of football! After some free time for lunch, the tour continues and you'll see the distinct contrast with the next destination: Puerto Madero. Once simply the port of Buenos Aires, Puerto Madero has more recently undergone significant transformations to become the most contemporary district of the city; one where modern real estate and high-rise office buildings form a new kind of skyline that towers above an upscale promenade of riverfront bars and restaurants. Explore Recoleta next; the district is the hub of the city's aristocracy, where upscale families live in pricey apartments, along avenues with soaring French architecture. Discover the Parisian air of Alvear Avenue, the most exclusive fashion shops, luxurious French palaces, and the legendary Recoleta Cemetery. The cemetery is the final resting place of many of the wealthiest and most important Argentine historical figures. Once the garden of the adjoining church, the cemetery was created in 1822 and is among the oldest in the city. It covers 4 city blocks, full of tombs adorned with works by local and international sculptors. More than 6,400 mausoleums form an architectural free-for-all, including Greek temples and pyramids. The most popular site is the tomb of Eva "Evita" Perón, which is always heaped with flowers and letters from adoring fans. Finally, the tour concludes with a visit to the diverse Palermo district, comprised of uniquely different sub-sectors that are teeming with trendy shopping, tantalizing gastronomy, greenery, and beautiful French-style palaces. The spaces you'll visit during your tour are absolutely enchanting; this tour gives you the opportunity to wander through this odd wonderland and revel in some of the most romantic interior spaces in this or any other city.
